Subject: Chat with Clark Robinson
From: Clark Robinson <robinsonchicago@gmail.com> To: barriticus@gmail.com me: see, I knew Scott would like Anon once he met them me: Also, in case you're concerned about the legal action against McCain and the perception it might cause, trust me when I say I've got a plan on this Clark: McCain is a whacko, most every intelligent person who reads political stuff on the net now knows that since he came out with his new version of lay back and enjoy it Clark: so you would have to go to extremes you are not capable of to be negatively preceived alongside McCain me: I mean by virtue of taking legal action against him; I got the impression that you might not have thought this to be a good move based on a quote you sent me the other day from a blogger Clark: i dont remember which quote, but i didnt mean that me: oh, okay me: it was from Da Tech Guy me: anyway, I'm going to have Mirna file against him later in the month me: I'm not suing for damages, though Clark: thats kind of expensive (actually suing) me: just court costs, lawyer fees, and getting him to post my response me: not if I use Mirna me: and filing isn't expensive Clark: ok me: like all my plans, this one is entirely flexible and could change at any time Clark: da tech guy quotation: I just wanted to be sure you saw that guy's post; best I could tell it was unironic